BREAST CANCER SURGEON AND SURVIVOR DEDICATED TO EDUCATION AND EARLY DETECTION DURING OCTOBER BREAST CANCER AWARENESS MONTH

Five years ago, Lisa D. Curcio, M.D., discovered cancer when reading her own mammogram. Her cancer is gone now, but as south Orange County's only female surgical oncologist, Dr. Curcio, is dedicated to providing the latest education and resources for early detection and breast cancer treatments.

This October during Breast Cancer Awareness Month, Curcio is reaching out to the community to provide the latest breast health information, the importance of early detection, and to share her personal story of experiencing breast cancer first hand.

Dr. Curcio has extensive medical training and experience as a breast cancer specialist and surgeon. Prior to starting her private practice, Advanced Breast Care Specialists of Orange County, Curcio served as a surgical oncologist in Orange County and was a Lieutenant Colonel and Chief of Surgical Oncology at Keesler Medical Center in Biloxi, Mississippi. Advanced Breast Care Specialists specializes in all forms of breast disease and breast cancer with a goal to treat patients as a whole. A unique aspect of her practice is offering both medical and spiritually based healing options.

"We treat the medical aspects of our cancer patients, but also give them the tools to build their emotional strength so they can get back to their lives before cancer," said Curcio.

Curcio recently educated women at the California Governor & First Lady's Conference for Women and Family in Long Beach and actively participates as a speaker and advisor to the Susan G. Komen Breast Cancer Foundation and American Cancer Association.

To contact Dr. Curcio for an interview or for further information about Advanced Breast Care Specialists, call (949) 770-0797 or visit www.MyBreastCareSpecialist.com.

NOTE TO EDITORS: Dr. Curcio is available for interviews.
